Festival Style

The effects of the past two years has made many people long for those memorable long weekends at festivals across the world. Spending great time with friends in amazing surroundings listening to your favourite music and artists are moments we appreciate all much more now.

A new style of event that has recently gained popularity is our festival style event.

Why not get your friends to DJ or local residents from either Mallorca or Ibiza, set up a sound system and have La Van serve your favourite festival foods and drinks throughout the day or weekend at your villa or finca

A young woman with long, wavy brown hair is smiling and looking down. She is wearing a green sequined top and a colorful forehead band. She holds a white cup with a graphic design in her right hand, which also has a colorful wristband. The background is a blurred festival scene with other people and green umbrellas.
